WHAT’S NEW AT OPEN STUDIOS 2018...
Artists making their debut appearance at Open Studios in 2018

ARTSPACE 3 FLOOR 3, STUDIO 27
Barbara Mansi

Italian born Barbara Mansi has been a London resident since 1982. Her new work is mosaic. Sometimes she uses the same design for both silk painting and mosaic to explore how they turn out in the two very different mediums. She is currently exploring 3-D mosaics which she describes as ‘exciting and rewarding’.

Don’t forget...

• Many of the artists involved in the Open Studios are happy to talk to you about commissions
• The artists are happy to talk about their work and explain their ideas. Whether you are planning to buy work or not you will get a warm welcome at N22 Open Studios...

CHOCOLATE FACTORY 1, STUDIO 10
Judy Pilarczyk

Judy Pilarczyk specialises in oil painting, works in pencil and fashion illustration. She describes her work as narrative realism. Her subjects are ‘unique personalities with interesting faces.’ Originally from Poland, she says working in the fashion department at Central Saint Martins, has contributed to her style and the concept of the beauty she endeavours to represent.

Collage Arts supporting creativity since 1985

Collage Arts is proud to have been supporting creativity in Wood Green since 1985. We are a charity. Every penny we earn is re-invested in programmes that support the cultural, economic or social development of Wood Green.

This year’s Open Studio event is a demonstration of our resilience. Despite the massive changes happening in the area, our unique partnership with Big Issue Invest, Milico and Harringey Council, has ensured that artists’ studios will continue to form the backbone of the Cultural Quarter in Wood Green.

Collage Artspaces

Collage Arts currently has four Artspaces with more to follow. Over 200 artists in 100 studios, a flourishing restaurant and performing arts venue.

The Artspaces participating in Open Studios are:
Chocolate Factory 1: 40 studios in Clarendon Road
Artspace 1: Karamel Exhibition/installation and vegan restaurant in Coburg Road
Artspace 3: 45 studios in Cumberland Road (Previously known as Chocolate Factory 3)
Artspace 4: Home of Create Your Future, Studio 306 Collective, Collage Works
Artspace 2: Is not part of Open Studios, but provides a further 50 studios

Two more Collage Artspaces will be formally opened in February 2019.

Collage Presents provides a wide range events in the borough showcasing the extra-ordinary. We have visual art exhibitions at the award winning Karamel vegan restaurant within Artspace 1 on Coburg Road. There are also live offerings of jazz, world music and spoken word events.

Collage Arts believes the creative industries are failing to access talent reflecting the diversity of London.

Collage Works offers free, project-based learning opportunities designed to support under-employed Londoners, aged 19+, who want to make their livelihoods in creative industries. Our network of industry links support from our alumni mean 62% of our recent participants went directly into jobs in the sector.

Currently funded by European Social Fund

Create your Future offers free, women-only training for economically inactive ethnic minority women from Haringey and Enfield. Training includes extensive apprenticeship options, entrepreneurship and support for women’s well-being.

Funded by Big Lottery ESF

Open Studios partners Pram Depot

Pramdepot is the charity partner for the 2018 Open Studios. Pram Depot was the brain-child of artist Karen Lois Whiterad. It is an arts-led recycling project that redistributes high quality baby clothes and equipment to women in need of support during their first year of motherhood. Pramdepot works with mums that have had support through Birth Companions, The Helen Bamber Happy Baby Group and around 20 other agencies around London.

Whiterad has conceived two exhibitions in Karamel (Coburg Road), as part of the Spotlight on Asylum Festival. First, there is an installation of baby clothes hanging as if on washing lines, each one representing a baby that has received support.

Left to right: Kassandra Isaacson, Mark Wallinger and Susan Rosenberg

The second exhibit consists of 125 images on the theme of Asylum angels. Artists from Collage have been joined by artists including Tracey Emin, Antony Gormley, Mark Wallinger, Rachel Whiteread and Alison Wilding. The online auction closes 20 November 2018.
